

CELTIC CROSSING HOSTS CY AREA MENU HUNT – TO CELEBRATE ONE YEAR OF CY NIGHT OUT

March 21, 2009 - Thursday evenings in Cooper Young have quickly become synonymous with live music, great food, and entertainment for all ages. Last April, Cooper Young Business Association (CYBA) Director, Tamara Walker and local business owners in the district joined forces and launched the First Thursday Night out. With over 18 restaurants and 25 retail shops, the group effort has been enjoyable to both owners and patrons.

Thursday, April 2nd, will mark the first anniversary of First Thursday in Cooper Young, Celtic Crossing Irish Pub and Restaurant has joined with other restaurants in Cooper Young to host a free first-ever Menu Hunt for the occasion. Teams of 1 to 4 people can sign up at Celtic Crossing, Young Avenue Deli, or online at www.celticcrossingmemphis.com <<http://www.celticcrossingmemphis.com>> <<http://www.celticcrossingmemphis.com>>. Each team will receive a sheet with trivia questions about each of the restaurants in the district. The answers will be found by reading through the menus at each establishment.

Jim Pettit and his Band will perform live at the Gazebo and local artists will be setting up on the sidewalk to sell some of their wares to create a festive atmosphere. Menu Hunt participants will receive complimentary tickets for Coors Light or non-alcoholic beverages. In the spirit of community, we are using this occasion to raise new toys for St. Jude Children's Hospital there will be boxes at the Gazebo for your donations to this worthy cause.

The Menu Hunt begins at 6:00 pm at the Gazebo and the answer sheets have to be submitted at Celtic Crossing by 9:00 pm. The winner will be announced at Celtic around 9:30 pm. The winner will receive a $700 Grand Prize in restaurant vouchers to all of the participating restaurants in the Cooper Young Historic District. Early registration is suggested, but is also offered the day of the event from 5:30- 6:00 pm at the Gazebo.

The following Monday, April 6th, Celtic Crossing brings another special event to the Cooper Young neighborhood. Be sure to join us as we introduce Tartan Day to Memphis. There will be bagpipers, live music, and featured menu items. It is also the usual Monday pint night at the pub.

Be sure to come out Thursday evening from 5-9 for Cooper Young's Thursday Night Out and participate in the Menu Hunt – it should prove to be very appetizing for the winning team.
