FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CELTIC CROSSING CELEBRATES SECOND ANNUAL OYSTERFESTIVAL
MAY 2, 2009

Celtic Crossing Irish Pub and Restaurant will have its 2nd annual Guinness Celtic Oyster Festival on Saturday, June 6, 2009. Located on the corner of Cooper and Oliver, Celtic Crossing is a favorite place to grab a pint and sit on the patio listening to local music and talent. This year's Oyster Festival will be no exception.

Pints of Guinness, friends and familiar faces, and dozens and dozens of oysters will make the second festival a memorable event not to be missed. Not only will Oysterfest reprise a successful event from last year at the pub, it also commemorates Celtic Crossing's 4th anniversary of its grand opening in Memphis.

Musical acts featured in this year's festival include Needfire, high energy and nationally acclaimed Celtic rock in kilts, Swagger, featuring Mark Harriman of the renowned Sallymacs, and local favorites Reel McCoy.

Along with these favorite musicians, any Irish festival would not be complete without traditional bagpipers. Throughout the day, Celtic bagpipers will weave through the crowds in and out of the pub, playing melodies and bringing some authentic Irish flavor to what has become an annual event anticipated by many.

A special Celtic menu will be served, which will include fresh Oysters imported from Ireland prepared in many different styles, and other Irish delicacies, including oyster shooters! The celebration will begin at 11 a.m., and in true pub fashion, will continue late into the night. There is no cover charge, so be sure to come out to Cooper Young's Celtic Crossing Irish Pub and experience Oyster Festival on Saturday, June 6. Come for the oysters, stay for the Guinness!
